Rev. Mr. McNabb, the lecturer, is easily recognized as the leading Catholic apol-ogist of England. He has lectured at Oxford University and in Westminster Ca-thedral, and last year delivered the English course of sermons in Rome during Lent. His reception in New York has been marked by the same enthusiasm that characterizes the appreciation of his English audiences. As a preacher, lecturer and author, this English Dominican merits a place beside that of Lacudaire.

Tickets may be obtained at the time o the lecture at 1623 Sixteenth Street.

Lieutement in Navy.

Annapolia, Md., April 2.—A wedding of interest in naval society took place here tonight when Miss Helen H. Thompson, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Thompson, of Annapolis, became the wife of Lleut. Raymond Foss Frellsen, of the navy. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Main Street in the presence of a large circle of relatives and friends of the young couple by Rev. Walter G. McNeil, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory charmeuse, with desorations of pearls, the collar being of Malta lace, and the tulle veil was caught up with valley lilles. She carried a shower bouquet of the same flower. Miss Florence B. Childs, of Annapolis, was mald of honor, who were turquoise blue crepe de chine, with trimmings of chantilly lace and rhine stones. Miss Childs carried a bouquet of pale pink sweet peas.

do not like it. The real reason is that it is new.

There is always a vigorous minority to welcome novelties of every sort, in cooking, in arrangement of furniture, in buildings, or what not. But the average person doesn't enjoy the disturbance that the new makes in the chanels of his brain. The old familiars look good to him.

Sometimes entire civilizations have been caught in the net of the old and never have freed themselves. The fact that the modern age has made progress an ideal is really astonishing when one reflects on the difficulty of getting accustomed to novelties.
